Municipalite d'Alexandrie.

AVIS CONCERNANT LES RATS.

Cette époque de l'année coïncidant avec la réapparition de la peste, les autorités sanitaires croient devoir rappeler le rôle prépondérant que jouent les rats dans la propagation de cette épidémie.

Elles engagent les habitants de la Ville et principalement les personnes qui sont particulièrement exposées au contact des rats (telles que bakals, marchands d'huile, de farine, de savon, propriétaires d'écuries, etc.) à faire usage des ratières et des boulettes empoisonnées que la Municipalité met gratuitement à leur disposition.

Les autorités sanitaires accordent une prime de P.T. 20 pour tout rat qui aura été reconnu atteint, ou seulement suspect de peste. Toutes les fois qu'on voudra faire parvenir dans ce but, des rats au laboratoire, on s'abstiendra de les y apporter soi-même, mais on les mettra, en les prenant si possible avec des pincettes, dans un sac, et l'on préviendra la Municipalité ou l'Hôpital du Gouvernement.

THE KHEDIVE.

The Khedive granted an audience yesterday morning to M. Gennadi, the Hellenic Consul-General in Cairo, who introduced to his Highness M. Stoubis, the Hellenic judge in the Mixed Court of Mansourah.

M. Korber, a Geneva architect, has been commissioned by the Khedive to build a summer palace on the western shore of the Bosphorus, at a cost of about half a million.

The Khedive, it is stated, intends to reside there during a portion of every year, making the palace a point of departure for his European tours. The Sultan has offered the choice of several sites.

THE BAKERS' STRIKE.

The strike of the bakers' men at Alexandria still continues, the master-bakers refusing to accede to the men's demands of more pay and less work. Many people are laying in stocks of bread for two or three days in anticipation of the supply of the "staff of life" falling short.

LOTTERY CIRCULARS FROM EGYPT.

The introduction of penny postage between England and Egypt has led to one unlooked-for development in the business of the Alexandrian post office. It is much cheaper now to send lottery circulars from the continent of Europe as freight by steamer to Egypt so as to make use of the cheap postal rates here to despatch them to England. On this subject a correspondent writes to the "Times": "The Postmaster-General has taken steps to prevent circulation through the British Post Office of German and Austro-Hungarian lottery circulars, but these steps are now being circumvented by the foreign bank agents who issue these circulars posting them in Alexandria, in Egypt, and thence, by this circuitous journey, the missives reach the addressees without question. Cannot the same watchful protection to British subjects now exercised over the mail bags from Berlin, Hamburg, Vienna, Budapest, etc., be directed to the mail-bags from Egypt?"

THE DRUG EVIL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "EGYPTIAN GAZETTE". Sir, — Yesterday afternoon a voluntary poisoning took place here at Kafr Zayat.

A young fellow attempted his life by taking a pastille of sublimate. Fortunately thanks to the immediate arrival of a physician on the scene the danger was averted and the fellow is now out of danger.

When we afterwards met the doctor he was very indignant, and rightly so, at a new druggist here who takes it upon himself to make the doctor more than it should be safely allowed him, and at such critical instances more especially.

This gentleman indeed is want of practicing this sort of adulterated business—for the admixture is otherwise of unknown professional appellation—indiscriminately to all, the natives of course in particular, for he gives out drugs of all kinds at his own pleasure and regardless of doctors' prescriptions; this case being an example where the doctor is in possession of an ex-otico he (the druggist) now gave, in a similar manner, and which owing to the timely arrival of the doctor was not given, being inadequate for the sort of poisoning.

We ask what might have happened had those people depended on this drug and had not had sent for a physician?

After what happened at Cairo last year, we shall leave it for the legal authorities to answer, by their at least endeavouring to put a possible check to this sort of evil before it is again too late.

Kafr Zayat, April 23.

THE PRINCES' CASE.

BRILLIANT DEFENCE OF "ISMAIL THE MAGNIFICENT."

The procès des Princes opened yesterday in torrid weather at the Cairo Mixed Courts before Judge Prunieres and MM. Martinoff, Ragheb Bey Bahr, Prampolini, and Youssef Bey Aziz, judges, and Emin Bey Ghali, Ministre Public. The court-room, despite the khamsen, was crowded, the Cairo Bar being present in great force, while the Press was also largely represented. Mr. Edward Dwyer, C.B., was among the audience, while at the bar were Maitres Carton de Wiart, Mannsardi, and Wassif.

From 9.40 a.m. to 11.40 a.m. Mr. Villa pleaded on behalf of the Princes. His speech was pronounced by all who could appreciate Italian to be a masterpiece of pleading in clear and well-chosen language.

After thanking the tribunal for permitting him to plead in Italian, and making a very complimentary reference to the Mixed Courts, Mr. Villa opened with an eloquent defence of Ismail Pacha. The famous Viceroy had dreamt of a revival of the Egyptian Empire; he had detached his country from the Porte, and, determining to make the best use of the soil of the Nile Valley, had acquired great estates which he hoped to render productive and one day divide among his people. He was no monopolist—he had dreamt of making Egypt free, rich, and progressive, and the Egypt of to-day owed its being to the Khedive's dreams. He had been accused of squandering his realm's revenues. True, his family and his country had incurred heavy debts, and to-day the Egyptian Debt amounted to three millions of francs. Yet take Egypt's assets to-day—the Suez Canal, irrigation works covering the Delta, towns rich, prosperous, and civilised. Can such be the results of a spendthrift policy? He seized land—yes; but as a guarantee against debt. So far from waste, his acquisitions were a form of national savings bank, for the automatic payment of the country's debt. Moreover, many of these properties came to him from his own forbears; he held them in his private capacity—a special Daira was appointed for their management. The Convention of July 12, 1877, proved that the late Khedive was the sole owner of these lands and the State and its creditors alike regarded him as such. In that contract all was arranged for mortgages in favour of the creditors, the rate of interest and the amortisation of the debt. But this contract was a private act, not an agreement into which the State entered. Ismail Pacha did not and could not cede these properties. The Government might plead that some of them had been acquired from the funds of the State—what then? The purchaser of land with another's money makes a fair purchase and becomes debtor to the lender: Ismail was therefore debtor to the State but in those days Ismail was the State. The separation between the State and the Ruler of Egypt was of later date and the Khedive at the time of the acquisition of these properties was an absolute despot whose powers were only limited by the moral law. A tyrant he was not—his very errors were caused by his largeness of view.

At the close of his speech loud applause broke out, only to be suppressed, and Judge Prunieres, after complimenting Mr. Villa for the compliments he had paid the Bench declared that though he had been obliged to repress outward manifestations of admiration among the audience, he shared their feelings to the full.

Mr. Pietri opened his speech at 11.40 a.m. with a tribute to Ismail Pacha followed by a eulogy of Mr. Villa's fine speech. He then gave the reasons on account of which the Government could not entertain the Princes' claims. He summed up the history of the Daira Sanieh and then opened his criticism of the defence. The properties of the Daira Sanieh had been declared State property; the interpretation of the famous Article 40 of the Law of Liquidation was the base of the whole discussion and was favourable to the Government. Article 40 read literally shows that the Princes' claim has no serious foundation. The conditions under which the Daira Sanieh debt was contracted must also be borne in mind. Then came the two Commissions, whose reports he quoted at length. Their evidence showed that the Daira Sanieh lands were State lands—not the private property of the ruler. He gave the necessary details of Ismail Pacha's cession of the Daira lands to the State and declared, basing his arguments on the memorial drawn up in 1886 in the name of the ex-Khedive and the Princes, that the Khedive had ceded these lands absolutely. Commenting on the views expressed by various legal authorities and attached to this memorial, he pointed out that the Government advocates at that date were all of his opinion.

At 1 p.m. the Court rose. Proceedings were resumed at 4.30 p.m., when Mr. Pietri resumed his pleading. In spite of the want of clearness of the ex-Khedive's memorial it was clear enough that Ismail Pacha's and the Princes' demand for an allowance from the Civil List was made in consideration of the cession of their lands. The allowance wrote off the debt for the cession. The arrangement of 1888 was next discussed. From this arrangement it resulted the Princes' new claims were inadmissible. They had renounced their claims in 1888, they could not renew them in 1906. The letters exchanged between the Government and the Princes were quoted. No question as to any ultimate surplus resulting from their exploitation arose in them. Ismail and the Princes had in so many words renounced all further claims; the claims made to-day were therefore "non-recevable"—inadmissible for their renunciation was effective and explicit. Mr. Pietri then examined Article 40 of the Law of Liquidation and pointed out that the explanations thereof given by counsel for the claimants were based on a strained interpretation of its wording. The other articles were explained one by one. Each was intelligible and logical if the Government's interpretation of Article 40 was correct, but not otherwise. Logic and law combined to support his claim. The most important point was that the Daira Sanieh Debt had become a State Debt as soon as the Khedive Ismail had ceased to rule Egypt. From that moment the Daira Debt was classed with the Privileged Debt and the Unified Debt.

Finally the counsel for the Government declared that the meaning of Article 40 of the Law of Liquidation was too clear to be distorted. It was an ingenious argument to compare the case to that in which a bankrupt regains the surplus proceeding from the sale of his assets after the satisfaction of his creditors, but why did the Princes and the ex-Khedive renounce their claims?

THE EGYPTIAN QUESTION.

PROPOSED NEW TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

An old Turkish saying, which we believe to be borrowed from the Koran, says that "there are more roads than one to Konieh." It is on a par with our good old Anglo-Saxon truism about "killing a dog," only more dignified. It is a sort of shibboleth of Pan-Islamism, and as such is the motto of our leading Egyptian contemporary "Al Moayad" and its correspondents, who have carried this policy to a pitch of fine art rarely exhibited, in their method of attacking Great Britain's position in Egypt.

The following epistle from its Singapore correspondent, the Yemenese Sayed Seif El Deen, is refreshingly characteristic of this mode of offensive stratagem. Sayed El Deen is a well-known writer, it appears, and to emphasize his statements "Al Moayad" commits them to a leading article, of which this is an interpretation.

"Long ago I had an idea that were an alliance to be formed between Turkey, Germany, and Russia against England and her adherents, British influence would be suppressed; Egypt restored to Turkey; the balance of power generally adjusted, and public security established on a firm basis. India, also, would obtain complete independence and have restored to it its Imperial Government, which was swallowed up by the British Lion. I did not, however, think then about making my ideas public, knowing the great obstacles that stood in the way of such an alliance, and it was not until I saw similar ideas published in different papers that I was encouraged to forward you this statement, with a few remarks thereon. The chief obstacle to such an alliance is one of finance. Turkey is obviously poor; Russia has an empty Treasury; while as regards Germany, supposing she were to impoverish her subjects, who would hold out to her a helping hand? Such an alliance would win fresh laurels for the German Emperor. By its realisation France would come between the hammer and anvil, but this would not be the first time that she would be deceived and harmed by the sons of the Thames, as history proves. But if France awakens before further difficulties arise, and avails herself of an opportunity to cancel the Anglo-French Agreement of April 8, she would show fresh evidence of her desire to act as protector of the Orient, despite the artificial Power which told her the skin of a wolf on a mountain. By so doing France could avoid a crisis and remove the stain of the guilt she has committed, securing benefits, and finally realising these dreams."

We congratulate "Al Moayad" on the keen political foresight of its Arabian representative. His poetic allegory about the skin of a wolf on a mountain is possibly a household word in the land from which our contemporary's correspondent hails. It is un happily not translatable into English idioms. Zebop, by whom we swear on this side of the Equator, employs the skin of a lion to hide the figure of an ass.

THE FRONTIER DISPUTE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Suez, Wednesday.

The cruiser Nour el Bahr arrived at Suez this forenoon from Akaba, and will return again next Saturday morning, with stores for H.M.S. Dians.

It is stated that the Turkish troops at Akaba are making fortifications along the shore, and that further reinforcements are expected from Constantinople overland.

The heat is intense in the Gulf, and many Turkish soldiers are dying daily from hardships.

The Khedive proceeded yesterday morning to Abdeen Palace and gave audience to the Ministers. Shortly afterwards Ghazi Mukhtar Pacha saw his Highness and a conversation on the frontier question took place. The Prime Minister and the Minister of Foreign Affairs were present. The meeting was not arranged beforehand, and it is presumed that it was due to the arrival of fresh information from Constantinople.

EGYPTIAN'S EXPERIENCES

IN LONDON.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CAREER.

At the Newington Sessions, London, last week, William Zubin, 31, described as an Egyptian subject, pleaded guilty to having committed three burglaries at Wandsworth.

The prisoner told a remarkable story. His father was a German, and his mother a Jewess, and he was born in Cairo. He seemed to have been a guide to visitors in Cairo, and was an accomplished linguist, boasting that he was able to speak seven languages. Two years ago he went to London with a sum of £3,500. Within six months he had squandered his money in pleasure, being especially fond of motoring. Becoming stranded, he took to burglary, and displayed great cunning. His method was to hide in the garden of a house during the evening and then patiently wait until the inmates had gone to bed. Having obtained admission, he leisurely collected every article of value and waited until about six a.m., when he would coolly leave the house by the front door as if he was going to work. In April last year he was captured and sentenced at the Clerkenwell Sessions to nine months' hard labour. He was liberated on Jan. 6, and soon recommenced his operations. Between Jan. 12 and March 15 there were fourteen cases of burglary within a radius of half a mile in Balham, and it was evident that they were all the work of one man. Twenty police officers were put on special duty, and about six o'clock on the morning of March 15 Police-constable Crowhurst saw prisoner leave 12, Ravensley-road, by the front door. He knew the occupier, Mr. Parrey, and becoming suspicious, the constable stopped prisoner, who remarked that he was going to work. Crowhurst searched him, and found that his pockets were filled with silver spoons and other property, value about £50 in all. Prisoner refused to give any account of himself, but his address was discovered at Myrtle-street, Whitechapel, where property connecting him with five other burglaries was found. There was no doubt prisoner could give some valuable information as to the disposal of property, but he declined to divulge anything. At his lodging was a letter from his brother at Cairo, stating that the "Prince of Texas" had been inquiring as to his whereabouts.

Prisoner said he stole with the object of getting enough money to return to Egypt.

Mr. McConnell: You are a regular foreign burglar, and must go to penal servitude for three years.

The police in the case were commended.

EGYPTIAN PRINCE REFLOATED.

The former company has been formed with a capital of L.E. 150,000, divided into 37,500 shares of L.E. 4 each, for the acquisition of a plot of land at Rond Point Soliman Pacha, the construction and exploitation of a building consisting of shops, hotel, etc., and eventually the purchase or construction and exploitation of any other hotel. The whole of the capital has been subscribed by the promoters in the following proportions: Chakour Pacha, 1,500; H. Spalinger, 2,000; A. S. Constantinidi, 4,250; Alexandre Lakab, 500; Naghib Chakour Bey, 250; H. de Vries, 14,500; H. Boutigny, 14,500. 22,500 deferred shares of no nominal value have also been divided among the above. The founders will elect the first board of directors.

The capital of the Société Anonyme des Grands Garages d'Egypte is L.E. 80,000, divided into 20,000 shares of L.E. 4 each. There are also 10,000 founders' shares. The shares have been taken up by the following: Mr. J. W. Williamson, 1,500; Mr. Allan F. Joseph, 1,500; Mr. Alfred Curphey, 5,000; Mr. P. W. Stout, 5,000; Mr. E. C. Hogg, 5,000; Mr. Alex. Comanos, 1,000; M. G. Marzbach, 1,000. The board of directors consists of Mr. J. W. Williamson, Mr. Allan F. Joseph, M. Pierre de Boissieu, of Paris, and M. Auguste Paget. The objects of the company are officially stated to be the following: Elle a pour objet l'établissement, l'achat et l'exploitation de garages pour automobiles, la représentation des fabriques d'automobiles, l'achat, la vente et la location d'automobiles, en général l'industrie de l'automobile en Egypte et toutes opérations accessoires, notamment celles concernant le nettoyage par tous procédés. La compagnie est autorisée à acquérir ou prendre à bail tous immeubles utiles à son commerce, les vendre, céder ou sous-louer.

ENGLISHWOMAN'S SUICIDE.

The coroner's inquest into the circumstances attending the death of Miss Jessie Brown resumed its sittings at the British Consulate at Alexandria this morning. The evidence showed that the deceased attempted to buy corrosive sublimate at a chemist's in the town. This chemist stated that he refused to serve her, but no evidence was forthcoming as to where she obtained it. The court held that she committed suicide while temporarily insane.

THE ABOUKIR COMPANY.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Aboukir Company, Ltd., was held at Palmerston House, Bishopsgate, London, last week. Mr. Gerald A. Sheppard (Chairman) presiding. The chairman referred to the loss sustained by the company in the death of the late chairman, Mr. Samuel G. Sheppard, who was one of the original founders of the company. Other changes in the board had occurred during the year, Mr. Leonard B. Schlessinger, who had been a director from within a few months of formation, having resigned, and Mr. S. Garney Sheppard, Mr. Arthur Balance and Mr. Leonard Pelly having joined the board. Mr. Lang Anderson, the general manager in Egypt, had also been appointed director. An important feature of the year's working, Mr. Sheppard said, was that they had no arrears to deal with in presenting their accounts, the last having been paid in January last. Another point was the wonderful increase in the price of land, which had risen to £76 per feddan, for instalment transactions. This latter fact led to an important consideration: what was to be the policy of the company in the future? They had noticed that land they had sold not very long ago had changed hands after a short interval at a considerable increase in price, and they thought they ought to have something of this. The board quite realised they might be asked to sell, but it would take a large sum in cash to induce them to do so. They had not been without offers of considerable magnitude, but he thought for the present the shareholders might expect to remain land-holders in Egypt. The company had sold about 11,000 feddans, and he should not like to estimate the value of the remaining land, but they would have observed that for some years it had been continually increasing in value. The late chairman put the value at £30 per feddan, but he thought it was a great deal higher to-day. By the end of this year about 7,000 feddans would be in course of reclamation, and next year they hoped to canalise a further 2,000, and in 1908 the remaining 2,000. The new syphon they had placed under the Mahmoudieh Canal had proved very satisfactory, and during the heavy rains last year, when there was a fall of 6 inches in eight days, the water ran off quite easily. He moved that the directors' report and balance sheet be adopted, and this was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. Lang Anderson paid a tribute to the excellent work done for the company by the late Mr. Samuel Sheppard, and mentioned that for over 15 years he wrote to him, Mr. Anderson, a weekly letter dealing with Aboukir. But for the excellent assistance he gave in its earlier days the company would not have existed up till the present. Referring to the new chairman, he remarked that he found it a great aid to have at the head of the concern one who was so conversant as Mr. Gerald Sheppard was with every detail of the work they had in hand. Much had been said about the boom of land in Egypt. Thanks to the good work of the Irrigation Department, and the satisfactory condition of the country generally, there was much more security than hitherto. Formerly a man had one third of his land under cotton; cotton was then worth 23½ piasres, per cantar, and the natives did not like to buy land for more than 10 years' purchase. To-day half of this land was under cotton, cotton was now worth 350 piasres per cantar, and land was bought on 15 years' purchase. He considered the present price of cotton was not high, but was steady. As to the price of land, the circumstances perfectly warranted the increased valuations. There was an important factor in the situation—the population. Egypt was the most densely populated country in the world, there being 11,000 people to the square mile. It was absolutely an agricultural country, and the people must depend upon agriculture. Then, too, there was the intense desire of the people to possess land. They did not go in for company investment: they did not understand it. Land was the only investment they cared to take up. The present price of land was absolutely solid. A large amount of land could be bought now to yield 6% or 7%, with a chance of improvement. The chairman did not care to put a value on the land the company still held, but he, Mr. Anderson, had not the slightest hesitation in saying that it was worth half a million. (Hear, hear.) They had something like £150,000 in unmatured instalments on land sold, which made the estate very large indeed. They were getting on rapidly with the property, and when the whole of it was canalised they would work up the rental to a substantial figure.

Resolutions declaring dividends of 7% on the Ordinary and Deferred shares were carried. Mr. Gerald Sheppard was re-elected a director of the company, and a vote of thanks to the chairman and directors concluded a cordial meeting.

BULLETIN DE LA BOURSE

(Aujourd'hui à midi et demi)

La réaction s'affirme de plus en plus. Pour certains valeurs la dépression est énorme. C'est ainsi que la Delta Light était offerte au matin à 12 1/8.

Toujours ferme en comparaison des autres valeurs, l'Agricole est demandée à 10 livres. Par contre, la National tombe de 26 9/16 à 26 7/16.

Les Etablissemens à reculer. Ils s'inscrivent en clôture à 111 1/16.

Le Comptoir Financier perd 5/16 à 9 7/8.

Le Comptoir d'Industrie et de Commerce est à 10 1/16, la Finance et General Trust à 1 1/16 et les Etablissemens à 10. Le Land Allotment ne trouve preneur à aucun prix raisonnable.

Comme transactions, il n'y a guère à signaler que l'Agricole, la National, la Delta Light, la Delta Land, le Trust, l'Urbaine et le Comptoir.

La tendance demeure sombre.

MONEY AND SHARE MARKET.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT).

London, April 20.

The Money Market.

The scarcity of loanable funds in all the leading financial centres is having its due effect on our market, and here we are in the third week of April with the Bank rate at 3½% and the open market rate very little behind. New York and Paris are the points which are giving us most concern, for gold has been going to both places during the past week. As regards the former, it is hoped that the demand for gold is nearly, if not altogether, satisfied, but the cable rate stands weak at 4.85, and it is very uncertain what the full effect of the terrible disaster at San Francisco will be. So far the effect has been not only to dispel the expectation of a rise in the exchange, but to further depress it. The Paris market is, however, the more potent factor at present in the creation of disturbance here, and with the preparations for the Russian loan, stiff money rates, and the exchange down at 25.09½, it cannot be wondered at; whilst, of course, any gold on offer here naturally flows to the French centre.

Under these circumstances rates could not do otherwise than stiffen, and to-day call loans fetch 3½ to 3¾%, and loans for the week 3½% with a firm tendency, and discount rates, following in the wake of money, have also hardened, bills commanding 38% for all maturities up to three months.

The question of a rise in the Bank rate is mooted in some quarters, but such an event is not at all likely, and, indeed, bills for forward delivery, say in 10 days, can be done at the spot rate. It is quite likely that the present rates will even be maintained for the remainder of the month. We should see some money returning from the provinces during the next few days, and when the Russian loan has been placed, no doubt some French money will find its way to this market, but then we shall be faced with the usual end of month requirements, so we cannot look for much ease until the beginning of May.

The Bank of England returns published yesterday tend to bear out the above-mentioned view. There is a reduction of £880,000 owing to the recent gold withdrawals, and the market balances are reduced 1½ millions as shown in the decrease in Other Deposits. Since the return, too, further sums in gold have been withdrawn from the Bank's coffers for shipment.

The Stock Markets.

It is the unexpected that always happens. The terrible catastrophes in Italy and San Francisco, the shaking of the very foundations of the earth, have naturally had a most serious effect upon the bourses all over the world, and notwithstanding the fine position which the trade of the world is now reaching, such disasters as these are calculated to put the clock backwards. What the ultimate effect of the destruction, on such a huge scale, of life and property is likely to be in this particular case it is impossible to forecast. Fortunately the American nation, with the £50,000,000 which they will receive from the British insurance offices, is in a position to replace these losses to a large extent, but confidence will not be easily restored, and it is not likely that San Francisco will be rebuilt in anything like its former proportions, at any rate, not for many years to come.

No doubt a large part of the compensation and relief funds will have to go in rebuilding either there or elsewhere, and the immediate influence on trade ought not to be prejudicial, but the effect upon many of the railways, banks, and other institutions cannot but be serious.

A holiday tone has prevailed in the markets here throughout the week, and there has been little dealing other than of a professional character.

Gold-edged Stocks.

The weakness of these stocks has been typical of the general dulness, and Consols have been quoted lower. They close to-night at 90½ for cash and 90½ for the account.

Foreign Bonds.

Heavy selling of Russian Pours has taken place in Paris in order to release money for the new loan, and the price of these has fallen to 81½. The new loan, which is being quoted at 1½ premium, has affected the foreign Government market generally, which has been idle. Japanese Pours close at 9½ as against 92 last week.

Home Railways.

Notwithstanding the fine Easter and the magnificent traffic returns which are sure to follow, there is no heart to buy these securities for a rise. The market is as lifeless as ever.

The traffic receipts for the quarter to date show big increases for most of the companies, the North Eastern having a gain of £150,000, the North Western following this up with £144,000 and the Midland with £110,000.

Americans.

The fearful disaster in California has naturally had a very serious effect upon the

THE COTTON MARKET.

KEARSLEY AND CUNNINGHAM'S WEEKLY REPORT.

Liverpool, April 19.

Business in Egyptian Cotton this week has been interfered with by the holidays, but a fair business has been done on the few days the market has been open, and quotations are raised ¼d for Good and Fine, and all others are ½d per lb higher. In Futures a good business has been done, and the following are the latest quotations:—

Apl. 10.2d	July 10.0	Oct. 9.22
May 10.2	Aug. 9.56	Nov. 8.56
June 10.1	Sept. 9.49	Dec. 8.45

American Futures. The Market this week only resumed business on Tuesday after the Easter Holidays. The tone was steady but has since eased off and to-day's closing prices are generally 8 @ 9 points below those of last week. There is no special feature, the business passing is limited, and there is an entire absence of speculation. There is still some anxiety as to the question of the demand for an increase in wages, of which notice has been given by the operatives. The weather conditions latterly have been more favourable for the crop, and there has been some liquidation of American interests in this market. The latest values are delivery:—

NOTES ET CRITIQUES

La Caire, le 25 avril.

A Londres, le Consolidé anglais a baissé hier de 1/8 à 90 et l'Unité de 1/4 à 105 1/2. La National Bank est restée invariée à 26 7/8, de même que l'Agricole à 10 1/4 et la Daira à 18. La Delta Light a reperdu, à 12 1/2, le 1/4 qu'elle avait gagné à la clôture précédente.

A Paris, l'action Crédit Foncier Egyptien a rétrogradé de 2 francs à 783. Par contre, la Banque d'Athènes a avancé de 3 francs à 152.

Ici, nous avons eu, ce matin encore, un marché lourd, mais avec assez d'affaires, bien que la tendance à la réaction soit persistante. Les offres continuent à être nombreuses, mais elles ne tombent plus dans le vide. Elles sont, d'ailleurs, visiblement déterminées par des positions chargées qu'il importe d'alléger en vue de la liquidation de fin courant. Aussi bien, celle-ci peut être, d'ores et déjà, considérée comme en partie faite, ce qui aidera assurément à biter une reprise. En attendant, plusieurs titres montent, dès à présent, une certaine fermeté, ce qui est d'un bon augure.

La National Bank a faibli à 26 9/16-5/8. Plus soutenue, l'Agricole a clôturé à 10 1/16. Le Comptoir Financier est revenu à 7 3/4 et la Banque d'Orient à 142.

L'action Crédit Foncier s'est maintenue à 785; la part de fondateur a, de nouveau, réactionné à 1055. La Béhéra a été cotée 35 3/4. La Delta Light est remontée à 12 3/8.

Les parts de jouissance Baux du Caire ont fléchi à 257 pour finir à 259. Le Warden Estate est revenu à 6 5/8 et la part de fondateur à 7 1/4. La Nile Land s'est traitée à 14 3/8; la part de fondateur est montée à 80.

L'action Allotment est restée à 3 11/16; la part de fondateur a fléchi à 159. L'action Agricole du Nil a été échangée à 278; la part de fondateur est revenue à 9.

Les améliorations ont conservé leur avance d'hier à 51/8. L'action Immobilière et Travaux s'est maintenue à 4 3/8-7/16 la part de fondateur a clôturé à 78.

En bonne tendance, les Ciments ont avancé à 78; la part de dividende à 22.

Les Héliopolis, après un moment de faiblesse à 320, ont repris à 325. La part de fondateur est restée à 13.

L'action Express Nile s'est traitée aux abords du pair; la part de fondateur à 60.

Les actions privilégiées Tramways d'Alexandrie ont encore baissé à 186; les dividendes à 348.

Les Omnibus du Caire sont tombés à 27 1/2 et les Automobiles à 6.

Dans le groupe des Hôtels, les Upper Egypt se sont raffermis à 41/2.

Parmi les petites valeurs, les Delta Land ont été ramenés à 4 9/16 pour clôturer à 19/32. Les Hooker ont faibli à 1 3/32, les Estates à 1 13/16 et les Salt and Soda à 21 sh. 9. Les New Egyptian se sont maintenus à 31 sh. 6 et les Markets à 27 sh. 9. Les Egyptian Constructions sont revenues à 13/8.

La part de fondateur Estates a baissé de £ 11 à 10-10 1/4.

On annonce que la ligne de chemin de fer construite par la Western Egypt Corporation pour relier la Haute Egypte aux Oasis occidentales est sur le point d'être achevée jusqu'à un kilomètre 20. Les locomotives spéciales arrivées récemment d'Argenteuil se trouvent actuellement sur place, et dix des nouveaux wagons ont été déjà mis en mouvement.

D'autre part, on confirme la nouvelle que des traces importantes de lignite ont été trouvées dans le voisinage de l'Oasis de Khargeh. C'est probablement ce qui avait fait courir la rumeur de la découverte d'une mine de houille.

Nous prions instamment les personnes qui ne reçoivent pas régulièrement notre Circulaire de nous aviser sans retard afin que nous puissions prendre des mesures immédiates pour assurer la ponctualité du service d'expédition.

Carnet de l'actionnaire.
Les détenteurs d'actions de l'Anglo Egyptian Land Allotment Co. sont informés que le délai pour le paiement du 4ème et dernier versement de L. E. 1 par action expire le 1er Mai prochain.

D'après un câblogramme que nous recevons à l'instant de Liverpool, tout danger de grève est conjuré dans le Lancashire, les patrons ayant accepté les demandes des ouvriers filateurs.
